Editorial Privilege

First of all, let me own up to and correct my sins from the July/August Folio. DAVE EMORY was the author of the article entitled Some Thoughts On Uncle Sam and The Swastika. The Radio Free America shows that are heard on WBAI are researched and produced by Dave Emory; Nip Tuck is Dave Emory's co-host and is not involved with any of the research done for these programs. Thanks to our listener/readers who wrote in to ask about the authorship of the piece - I love it when I get some proof that the Folio is being read, even if it stems from a gaffe on my part.

I regret to announce that Pussifica T. Catt has resigned his post as Meatloaf In Residence. It seems that his salary line (two cans of Friskies, a box of Diet Meow Mix, and a rubber mouse) has been cut due to our ever-present financial difficulties. He will continue to donate his services to the station as Official Reception-Area Paperweight, and may occasionally do a guest editorial (since he is a much more literate personage, and certainly more well-rounded, than I.)

The afore-mentioned financial difficulties are driving us, at full steam, into our fall Marathon. Our programming has three distinct focuses this time: The City In Crisis, First Amendment Rights, and Women's Rights.

As we verge on another mayoral election, the enormous problems and crises that are daily occurrences in the Big Apple are on everyone's mind. The combined investigative talents of the WBAI Public Affairs and News departments will examine many of the most prominent of these issues in a five-part series called THE CITY IN CRISIS.

The recent National Endowment for the Arts/Congress battle over the art of Andres Serrano and Robert Mapplethorpe has been in the public eye for the past two months. Producer Sue Renee Bernstein will host a panel discussion on the latest developements on Friday, September 22nd at 4pm.

Older women, women on the global assembly line, the lives and music of singers/activists Joan Baez and Odetta are all a part of our Women's programming for this September Marathon. The keystone presentation in our Women's programming is the premiere broadcast of a reading of Daniela Gioseffi's book, Women On War: Essential International Voices For The Nuclear Age, heard on September 21st at 7:30pm.

There are many other special programs during this Fall Marathon; please see listings for complete details. And... oh yes, don't forget to pledge.

9:30 BREAKING ISSUES 1989. The Undercurrents team examines some of the major breaking stories which they have covered and are still uncovering this year, such as Panama, China, El Salvador, and Ireland. Produced by Robert Knight, Dennis Bernstein, Jessica Jiji, and others.

12:00 NATURAL LIVING. Health and nutrition with Gary Null.

THE CITY IN CRISIS: THE MAYORAL RACE AND BEYOND. This five part series will examine such crucial issues as housing and the homeless; education; health services; the epidemic drug crisis; AIDS; the urban environment; jobs, labor, and union matters; and the infrastructure of the city, which has a major impact on the lives of New Yorkers. Produced by the WBAI Public Affairs and News departments; Executive Producers Amy Goodman and Mario Murillo.

1:30 POLITICS, PEOPLE AND PROBLEMS. The state of the city, the mayoral race, local political campaigns, candidate's positions on the issues, and the quality of life for all of New York.

2:00 LIVING IN THE CITY. This program gives an overview of the city and its problems - drugs, homelessness, education, the jails, crime, and garbage. The issues facing the city are many; they have reached crisis proportions. What are New Yorkers thinking about as they head to the polls on September 12th for the primaries? And what can be done, if anything, to save this city?

2:30 THE POLITICS OF THE CITY AND THE MAYORAL RACE. Politics, Platforms, and the Pols. Al Angeloro and special guests within and without the official establishment confer on the these and other relevant issues.

4:00 PLANNED SHRINKAGE 89. A special close-up on the controversial city policy of reducing key services and its impact on the people. The program will examine this policy, which critics say is responsible for the massive burnout of the South Bronx in the 70s, rising rents, gentrification, and homelessness. WBAI reporter Eric Williams investigates this issue and its relationship to New York's growing health care crisis, which medical specialists care calling "medical gridlock." Some political insiders have also stated that this is the single most important issue for the city in the 90s. Produced by Eric Williams.

5:10 REPORT ON HOUSING AND THE HOMELESS CRISIS IN THE CITY. With the award-winning WBAI Listeners' Action Group producer David Mendelsohn.

6:00 THE WBAI EVENING NEWS

MONDAY September 11

6:00 THE MORNING MAGAZINE with Rosemari Mealy. This week, The City and the World.

8:00 UNDERCURRENTS with Dennis Bernstein and Robert Knight.

8:30 THE CITY IN CRISIS - PART FOUR: A special report by the WBAI Public Affairs and News departments on some of the major issues facing the people and the city in the primary and beyond. This morning, we will examine some of the most difficult problems for the electorate now and in the future:

education, the schools, the Sobol Plan, decentralization, and community school boards. What plans or remedies have been advanced for these problems? Produced by Linda Giosafatte and the Public Affairs Department.

New York City is losing jobs at an accelerating rate with every passing year, and there are plans for even more cuts by some of the candidates. Labor strikes have continued over these primary months as the cost of living spirals up and real wages go down. WBAI looks at labor issues in the campaign and beyond with Ken Nash, Mimi Rosenberg, and others.

The drug epidemic has captured the attention of the media in most of the major cities of this nation. New York, however, remains the #1 center for the drug problem, and the devastating consequences which it generates. We look at this issue in a background report by the Public Affairs Department.

"Give me your tired, your poor... but not your sick!" New York City and the critical state of health services and care, from the emergency rooms to the board rooms of health agencies, WBAI looks at this situation, including the AIDS crisis in our reports on Campaign 89 produced by the WBAI News Department.

12:00 NATURAL LIVING with Gary Null.

1:30 THE ARTS AND POLITICS IN NEW YORK CITY. Where do the candidates stand on the arts? Tony Gilotte, theater director and producer from the WBAI Arts Department opens a panel on these issues. With special guests.

3:00 WOMEN WORKING FOR A NEW CHILE. September 11 marks the date of the assassination of former Chilean president Salvador Allende and the destruction of the hopes of change for many years. This program examines the current situation and especially the role of women in realizing a new Chile. Produced by Laura Flanders.

4:30 JOHN COLTRANE: THE MUSIC AND THE MAN. A music special with a rare interview in which Coltrane discusses his life and his music. Produced by R.B. Isles.

6:00 THE WBAI EVENING NEWS

WBAI is a 50,000 watt listener-sponsored community radio station broadcasting to most of the metropolitan area of New York City and New Jersey. Our address is: 505 8th Avenue, New York, NY 10018 (212) 279-0707. The station is licensed to the Pacifica Foundation and broadcasts at a frequency of 99.5 MHz. Subscriptions are available at $45/yr ($25/yr student/senior), $2 of which underwrites the cost of one year's Folio subscription. The WBAI Folio is published 11 times per year and is distributed to all subscribers.

The meetings of the Local Board of Directors for WBAI are held on the last Thursday of every month at District Council 1199, 310 W 43rd Street, NYC at 6:30pm.

If there are any changes in meeting time or location, they will be announced on Report to the Listener or as a frequently played announcement on the air.
